To whom it may concern

It is a great pleasure for me to write this letter of recommendation to Gurjot Singh Aulakh who is planning to complete his bachelor's degree in Information Technology June 2023 at OsloMet - Oslo Metropolitan University.

Gurjot is academically strong and his grades are well above average. He attended my course in Discrete mathematics where I remember him as a very motivated and hardworking person with strong academic and social skills. Based on his commitment and good results, I hired him as a student assistant on the same course for the following year:

Autumn 2020/2021:

Discrete mathematic DAPE 1300 10 credits, 4 tutorials per. week

The work as a student assistant consisted of providing individual help and guidance to students in solving mathematical problems. There were about 30 students per hour. The work did also include correction and approval of mandatory assignments.

Gurjot was very ambitious and conscientious in his work. He was professionally confident and showed great independence. He carried out the work of correcting compulsory assignments very thoroughly, with valuable feedback to the students. With his sympathetic nature and good communication skills, Gurjot contributed to increasing interest in the subjects, and thereby also the academic level. Both students and teachers were very satisfied with the work Gurjot did. We have greatly appreciated his efforts.

Your sincerely,
